School Ties

David Green is brought into a prestigious 1950s school to help their football team to beat the school's old rivals. David, however, is from a working class background, so he isn't really "one of them", but he's very successful at making friends. David is a Jew, and has to keep this a secret from his friends for fear of being rejected.

Starring Brendon Fraser, Matt Damon, Chris O'Donnell, this movie received award nominations by the Political Film Society USA for Human Rights; by the Chicago Film Critics Association for Most Promising Actor (Fraser); and by the Casting Society of America, USA, Best Casting for Feature Film, Drama.
